Claims 6-9 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot serve as the basis for any other multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, these claims have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The recitation of claim 5 (“characterized in that each of said projection portions has a shape in a cross section such as to focus against the top thereof”) is not understood. Please clarify.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Masatake.

The Fig. 2 embodiment of Masatake in particular anticipates the above claims. The outermost layer 12a reads on the claimed “sheet material for flat pipe”, and the inner fin sections 10 with corrugations 13a, 14 together with the outer wall sections 11a read on the claimed "inner fin" comprising opposing flat plate portions with at least one flat plate portion formed with projection portions.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shitaya et al.

As shown in Drawing 3 and described in Shitaya et al., the reference contemplates forming the tube of a sheet of material and joining the abutting edges 2a, 2b of the sheet to seal the edge.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3/1 (claim 3 as it depends from claim 1) is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Masatake in view of Kato et al.

Kato et al. show a tube formed of a folded sheet with corrugations that abut opposed wall portions to define plural parallel passages. They expressly disclose the equivalence of regular corrugations with "pinched" corrugations having sides that abut (cf Fig. 2 and Fig. 4). Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the instant invention was made to form the corrutations of Masatake in this manner in view of the express recognition in Kato et al. that such corrugation formations are known equivalents.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The remaining references show various corrugated inner fin designs, and/or tubes formed by folding an sheet.
